Project Brief: My Computer Science career

My final project will be a site that will store all my experiences within the field of computer science. It will also contain contact information and other information that can found on a resume. I will be creating this to allow potential employers to see my work on a site that I made. The site will also show all of my codes that I have written in the past.